

Monroe City's History Walk

Through

Faith, Foundation and Food

As our community was built as a shipping and trade center, early settlers' Faith led them here to start their lives and develop our community. Being faced with trials and successes throughout the years, people's faith and hard work persevered to keep Monroe City moving forward. As buildings were constructed our Foundation took form. We felt it would be interesting to gather some information from other published books of Monroe City about the downtown area of Monroe City and what it looked like and the different businesses and buildings that once stood along our streets. When lots were sold in Monroe City, it was at a town picnic, so what better way to end our celebration today with a community lunch to bring people together.
